GREAT FACILITIES FOR THE PROMPT COMPLETION OF ORDERS AT THE INTELLIGENCER JOB PRINTING OFFICE

HE WAS A BIRD.

Forgery and Theft the Charges Against John McMahon.

HOW HE WORKED HIS SWINDLE.

Been Dead for Several Months-Then Pilfered Five Typewriters from His Employer and Did the Rapid Disappear Arrest-Said to be in the City Yet.

That old phrase, "There's a sucker born every minute," appeals to Manager McBane, of the West Virginia Supply Company, with due earnestness and applicability this morning. In other words he is the victim of a swindler. Several months ago John McMahon came to Wheeling from Newark, N. J. John has been unsettled in his habits for some time, in fact he is one of those nomadic individuals without a home who are never at home unless on the move all the time. His "main holt" is as a manipulator of the Morse key board, but as the demand for men in that calling has been only fair to middling lately, he has turned his hand to other vocations. For instance, he is accounted a very smooth article in the has been a heavy loser in not having a typewriter in his outfit of office furniture. On occasion, too, he has been classed A1 as a sewing machine agent. Ladies who "never thought much of a sewing machine, anyhow," have been known to change their minds with remarkable suddenness when placed under the spell of Mr. McMahon's persuasive eloquence.

So when, several weeks ago, John applied to Manager McBane, of the West Virginia Supply Company, for a situation, he got it. He took a typewriter out and came back with the money in two hours. That was a quick sale, of course Mr. McBane hegan to think that he had found a diamond in the rough in the person of the Jerseyman. For some time he did very well and invariably got cash for his machines. But within the past few days there has been a change. McMahon had several machines out on trial, so he said, that were not yet pald for. This was not unusual, however, as it is usual to place typewriters in offices on trial. But yesterday morning, when Manager McBane went to his office and opened a typewriter box to get out a machine that he had sold, quite to his disappointment and astonishment there was nothing but sawdust in the box.

"I thought the box was rather light when I went at, it," said Mr. McBane ruefully, last evening, when telling an Intelligener man of the affair.

But to make matters worse, when Mr. McBane went to his show window for a machine that had been on exhibition there, he found the machine was missing. It then developed that McMahon had been in the office the night before and had taken the two machines, without so much as "By your leave, sir." An investigation was then made and it was found that at two places. T. Montgomery's on the South Side, and W. B. Campbell's over in Bridgeport, where McMahon had reported having placed typewriters, there were none. In addition, he got away with a sample machine, five allogether, valued at $175.

Pretty good haul, eh!

But that was found that at two places. The heave was at ma n yesterday afternoon, but this is probably a mistake. He has without doubt sought pastures new, and a few Whooling people are wiser by a few points.
